

Beginning Of A Library At UCSC

Head librarian Donald T. Clark manned the shovel Thursday in groundbreaking ceremonies for Library Unit I at the University of California at Santa Cruz. Observing in the front row are Bruce Lane, UCSC project architect; A.

Herbert Raymond, UCSC project inspector; Wendell W. Simons, assistant university librarian; Henry Cooley, superintendent from contractors Rothschild, Raffin and Weirick; W. F. McIntosh, controller for Rothschild, Raffin and Weirick; Henry M. Newman, representative for architects John Carl Warnecke and Associates. Library staff members and other university staff are looking on in the background. The library will be finished in August, 1966.
