SC Quilt
U.S. Bicentennial Quilt Under Way

SEP 21 1975

Virginia Mulholland, left, and Jean Davidson display the quilt squares which they have completed and which will be part of the Bicentennial Quilt which is being made by local women working through the Santa Cruz Parks and Recreation Department. Virginia's depicts the entrance to the yacht harbor, showing the rocks, boats and gulls, with Monterey in the distance. Jean's square shows four Victorian Santa Cruz houses, including the Terry McLaughlin, Weeks and Halsam homes. Other women on squares which show various phases of life in the county.
