Hospital Job Under Way

Supervisor Vincent Locatelli, right, appears to have made a solid start toward construction of the new $2.7-million central core building at County General hospital yesterday. Actually, construction crews got the jump on Locatelli by about two weeks, but his gold-plated shovel nevertheless tossed out the first official spadeful of dirt in formal groundbreaking ceremonies. Chief of staff Dr. Eugene Yurich, left; medical director Dr. George Cress, and Seaside Supervisor Russ McCallie all seem to approve Locatelli's progress.
