

More Photos Of Bombing Of West Santa Cruz Branch Of Bank Of America

At left, the interior of the West Santa Cruz Branch of Bank of America, 1640 Mission St., is littered with debris following the explosion of a cast iron pipe bomb Saturday at 1:14 a.m. No one was injured. Damages were estimated at $10,000. (Photo by Sentinel Chief Photographer Pete Amos).

* * *

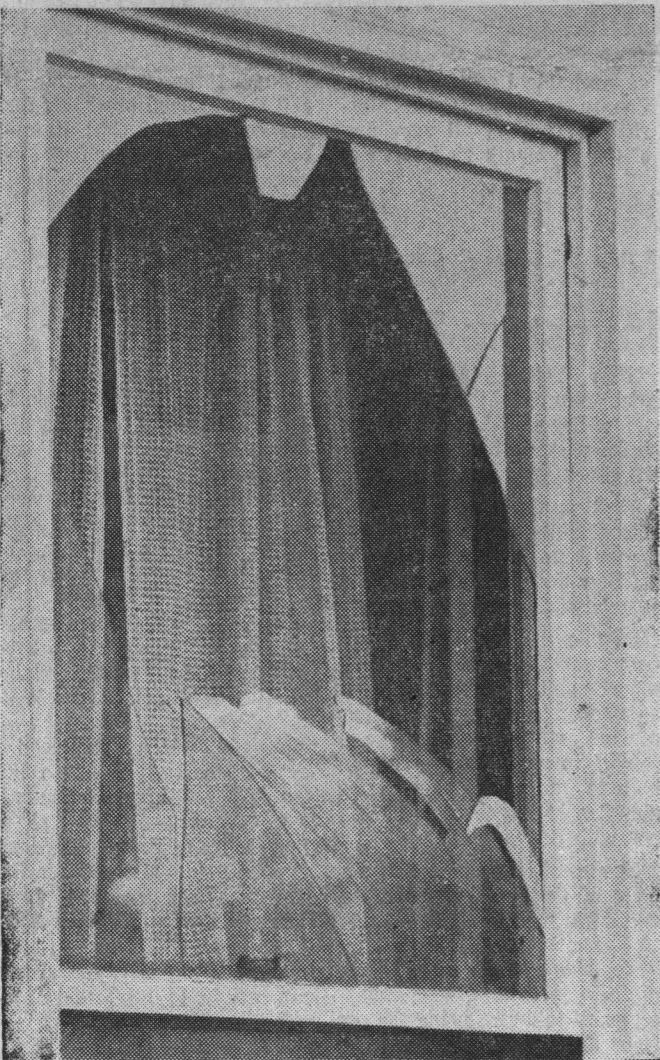

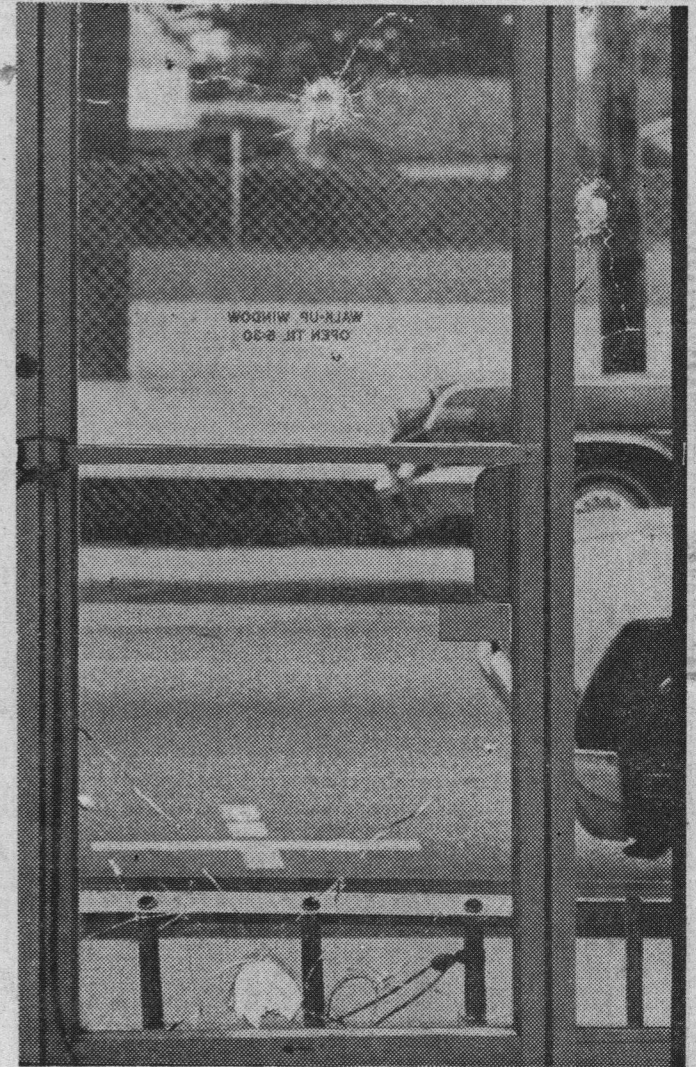

At right, the explosion rocketed shrapnel from the rear of the bank building all the way through the structure and out the front door. Fragments also were found at Bay View Elementary School across the street. (Photo by Sentinel Photographer Bill Lovejoy).

* * *

In picture at lower far left, fragments from the cast iron pipe bomb which exploded outside the rear of the bank on Mission Street shattered windows in the home of Margaret Deveney, 129 Toledo St., whose residence backs onto the bank property. (Photo by Sentinel Photographer Bill Lovejoy)

* * *

At lower left, the exterior of the Deveney home behind the Bank of America was punctured with fragments from the bomb. Two holes can be seen in this picture, one right below the window and the other slightly under it. A large tree in the yard protected the house from considerably more damage. (Photo by Sentinel

We GUARANTEE you will lose inches in just 60 minutes, without exercising, the new Relax-N-Trim way, in your own home—OR YOUR MONEY BACK !!

SLIM GYM SALON
 475-8525
 706 J, Capitola Avenue
 Capitola, California