

Kemper Shown At Courthouse

Sa

118th Yo

Accused slaver Edmund Kemper towered over detectives Don Smythe (left) and Terry Medina (right) as he was taken into court for arraignment Monday. Kemper waived reading of the eight counts, which include charges of killing several young women and his mother, Clarnell Strandberg. Municipal Court Judge Donald O. May ordered the defendant to be held without bail. The uniformed guard to the right of Kemper is Bruce Colomy. (Photo by Sentinel Photographer Pete Amos.)