Nixon Sticks To His Guns On Quemoy

By Whitney Shoemaker
Hartford, Conn. (P)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon stuck by his Quemoy-Matsu guns today and sharply criticized Sen. John F. Kennedy.

"What we need to have is for him to start thinking before he talks, and it would be a lot better for the country if he would," Nixon told a Hartford audience.

"Why can't we have a moratorium on any more rash, immature statements on something that is going to encourage the Communists any place in the world?" he asked.

The Republican candidate for president pounded away at the issue of the offshore China islands, saying surrender of any territory to the Communists would lead to defeat.

And he said the American people don't want "a rash immature man" changing policies of the Eisenhower administration.

Nixon again criticized Kennedy, his Democratic rival for the presidency, for wishing — as he put it — to express regrets to Soviet Premier Khrushchev after the U2 incident.

"Every time you encourage a Communist blackmailer to get what he wants," Nixon told an enthusiastic audience, "you don't get peace, you only go a step further on the road to war."

Kennedy had said Sunday night that his position corresponded pretty well with the administration's on Quemoy and Matsu, and added he was ready to drop the subject. Nixon didn't drop it.

Kennedy, Nixon said, missed the whole point. The Communist objective, he contended, "is not two little islands, not Formosa, but the world."

This Afternoon

Gov. Brown Will Inspect Proposed UC Campus Site

Governor Edmund G. (Pat) Brown and John Carr, state director of finance, will visit the Cowell ranch on High street, proposed as a site for a University of California campus, late this afternoon.

Brown was scheduled to arrive from Los Angeles by plane at the Watsonville airport at 3:30 p.m. Carr is flying to Watsonville from Sacramento.

Both Governor Brown and Carr were invited to visit the site by John O'Brien, Democratic candidate for state senator, who will lead the group on the tour.

City and county officials and representatives of the Greater Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce UC site committee will meet the state officials at the site.

Representatives of local service groups and organizations have also been invited to meet with the governor and his group at the site.

It is expected that the governor's party will reach the Cowell site around 4 o'clock. The tour is expected to take about 30 minutes as the governor must return to Watsonville to attend a Democratic fund raising rally at the home of J. J. Crosetti.

Several Santa Cruzans including Louis Haber, J. Frank Murphy and Walter Bettencourt will be among the welcoming committee to meet the governor at the Watsonville airport. Henry J. Mello, chairman of the county Democratic central committee, will head the welcoming committee with O'Brien.

The governor, who also serves as a regent of the University of California, was unable to accompany the regents on their tour of the site this summer.

The Cowell site and the Almaden valley site in Santa Clara county are under final consideration for a campus site for the university in the south central coastal region. Special land use plans for both sites are being prepared for submission to the university regents later this year.

Edward Pauley, chairman of the board of regents, has indicated a decision may be made on the site selection in January.

Under terms of an augmentation to the budget at the last session of the legislature, submitted by Assemblyman Glenn Coolidge of Santa Cruz, allocation of funds for a UC campus in Santa Clara or Santa Cruz counties, must be approved by the regents, the governor and the state director of finance.

Kennedy Hits No Amount of Complacency Decided By On GOP's Par Supervisors

Dayton, O. (P)—Sen. John Kennedy said today American security as well as its leaders would be threatened if Richard M. Nixon is elected president.

Campaigning in southwest Ohio, the Democratic presidential candidate hammered at what he called "Republican complacency" and emphasized his own conviction that "we must do better."

He compared Nixon unfavorably with former President Herbert Hoover as he criticized Republican domestic policies, especially what he called a high-interest program that benefits banks at the expense of people.

Kennedy spoke at a $10 Democratic brunch, later at an outdoor Democratic rally at Middletown and prepared a speech for Dayton.

Introducing him, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle predicted that Kennedy will be elected, and that he will carry Ohio by the biggest margin ever for a Democratic presidential candidate.

As Kennedy took to a Nixon domestic issues, one group of listeners at Middletown raised a sign saying, "We're laid off, so we came to the rally. We'd rather work."

Turning to the foreign policy debate, Kennedy drew a parallel between what he called "the Republican position," and that of Stanley Baldwin, prime minister of Britain in the decade before World War II.

Kennedy, whose first book was an examination of British policy during this period, said Baldwin did not call for "enough exertion, and as a result the free world was almost lost."

Kennedy said the basic issue between him and Nixon is whether this country could do more.

A bond issue to finance the construction of a courthouse will be put before the voters in Santa Cruz county June 13.

This much is certain. As to the amount of the bond issue for the courthouse and whether any other parts of the county's capital improvement program will be tacked onto the courthouse has not been determined.

The board of supervisors this morning was unanimously in accord on the single point of setting an election date. Studies will be made to determine the actual size of the bond issue.

Supervisors decided to move cautiously on how many items should be included in the package—if any—as a result of the resounding defeat of a $3,250,000 general obligation bond issue in June last year.

A total of $2,590,000 was marked off for a courthouse on 4.2 acres in the Santa Cruz Urban redevelopment project near the present courthouse in the last election.

The new bond issue would be for a courthouse at the larger site in the park project at the intersection of Ocean street and Water street on the other side of the San Lorenzo river.

Pointing to the sound whacking given the large package bond issue last year, Supervisors Vincent Locatelli and Walter G. Merrill took a strong position that nothing else—only a courthouse—should be on the bond issue. Expressing the same

Three Big TV Quiz Winners Must Face Charges Of Perjury

New York (AP).—Three big-money winners on television quiz shows—Charles Van Doren, Hank Bloomgarden and Elfrida Von Nordoff—have been charged with perjury, it became known today.

They were among 14 former TV quiz show contestants who surrendered to face charges.

Robert Burton, who was in the audience, and takes office in January as representative of the Branciforte district.

In taking the cautious attitude of "first things first," the board readily turned down a recommendation by Administrative Officer Richard O'Reilly to at least tentatively approve some of the other top priority items in the capital improvement program calling for $3,345,000 in construction needs for the next 20 years.

Refusing to give an affirmative vote to the bond issue unless each supervisor pledged support to the measure was Mrs. McLean. This touched off some harsh exchange of words between her and Merrill.

"I will not vote for a bond issue before each member assumes the responsibility for active and vigorous campaigning involving precincts and organizations," she determinedly declared.

"Are you implying that other members did not do their job (on the last bond issue)?" Merrill queried.

"I do not want to imply anything," Mrs. McLean replied.

The June 13 date may be considered a "compromise" time offered by Nelson. Supervisor Francis Silliman, emphasizing that lettuce growers in the Pajaro valley have experienced an extremely poor year, at first suggested late June or July. This would allow for some crops to come in and the farmers would be in a better financial position to approve the measure.

The board will meet October 27 with department heads to get their ideas on the bond issue and needs for a courthouse.
