Water supply Board Expected

To Name Scott To Water Committee

12-9-59

Attorney Ray Scott, former county counsel and district attorney, is expected to be appointed to the advisory committee of the county flood control and water conservation district by the board of supervisors Monday.

Board Chairman Lewis Nelson and Supervisor Vincent Locatelli decided yesterday afternoon to fill the vacancy in the San Lorenzo supervisorial district on the eight-man committee with the popular attorney.

A resolution confirming the appointment is scheduled to be presented to the board Monday.

As county counsel, Scott handled the legal work in obtaining federal funds for the planning of the Newell creek dam project. Nelson and Locatelli feel that Scott with his knowledge of the water situation in the county, is needed on the committee.

"I think the water problems of the county are only partly solved," Scott declared. "There are many problems confronting us in connection with the mid-county and Watsonville areas."

Scott said he plans to attend the advisory committee session tonight. The committee is scheduled to call a bond election and establish a district for the acquisition of the Monterey Bay water company.
