

WAR - BULF WAVE

Saddam was showing no signs of "A last-minute appeal is very

VCF demonstrations

RP

1/15/91

Kurt Ellison

Peace vigil

About 400 people gathered at the Plaza in Watsonville for a few hours last night to pray for peace. While some carried banners protesting an impending war in the Persian Gulf, others said they believed the United States had to take action. All, however, were holding out hope for peace and the safe return for friends and family in the military. People talked quietly, prayed and sang religious songs in Spanish and English for about two hours.