

House and Garden Tour Coming Up

This 14-room house at 419 Locust Street is providing a new aspect of old home restoration to viewers on the House and Garden Tour May 10, sponsored by Santa Cruz Welcome Wagon Club.

It was purchased a year ago by Mr. and Mrs. Ward Carter, ex-southern Californians, and is the 12th house they have restored. It is about one-third finished, and tour goers will get to see finished portions, half-finished and totally untouched areas as well.

The Carters are doing all the work themselves. He retired seven years ago as purchasing agent for the American Cement Company in Riverside, after working for the company for 39 years. The couple has restored houses in Pasadena and Los Angeles areas.

This handsome Victorian house was the home of Dr. T. W. Drullard, former mayor of Santa Cruz, and was built by a man named Terry.

The Carters have been working on it for eight months—still have far to go: "Tour goers will be able to see the bad and the good," quipped Mrs. Carter.
