

500 Kids Participate In Reading Program

They wait in line at the Capitola branch to report on their books in the county-wide Lazy SC Reading Roundup. The city and county summer children's library program, under the direction of Thelma Anderson, has attracted some 500 kids so far.

The young cowboy in the picture at the left, Dennie McNeely, already has read his 15 books, to earn a "reading roundup" pin and certificate. Dennis, who is seven years old, says his favorite from the library is "Angus and the Ducks."

Here he looks over a new book at the Santa Cruz city library with Barbara and Stephen Antic, "pardners" in the roundup who have only a few more books to go before they earn their "Lazy SC brands."

All the children taking part in the special library program, which finishes August 15, will be invited to an afternoon party in the civic auditorium August 26.

That is when the youngsters who have read 15 books each will be awarded their pins and certificates.
