

Who Could Wait?

9-22-63

About 45 members of the San Jose Sailing club brought their boats over the hill yesterday for inter-club races from Santa Cruz harbor, although it hasn't opened officially yet. The small sailing craft ran a course from the harbor jetty to the municipi-pal wharf and back three times. Emo Pieracci, harbor superintendent, said conditions were good. The only mishap was the overturning of one boat, which was righted without problems.
