Peace marchers

Chip Scheuer

Sign-carrying marchers cross the Water Street bridge in Santa Cruz yesterday at the start of their 52-mile walk to Monterey to protest U.S. involvement in Central America. The marchers reached Watsonville this morning and staged a brief rally at the Plaza before continuing on to their destination.

They will arrive in Monterey tomorrow, stage a protest at Fort Ord, then conclude the demonstration at 1:30 p.m. in downtown Monterey. The peace march is sponsored by various religious and peace groups opposed to the Central American policy of the Reagan administration.
