

Plane-Flyers Flit Above the Fog

A number of those who went on an airplane flight late yesterday afternoon had the pleasure of flying above the fog.

Donald Younger has a set of photographs taken by him while in the plane. He shows snaps of the city, by sections, and a splendid one of the San Lorenzo river. Another is of the Thompson-Fowler plane flying beneath him. He has one of the landing field and several taken of himself, seated in the plane.
