

Library Trustees, Grand Jury Will Put Criticism Up-Front

The Library Board and the county grand jury will meet to discuss library policies, administration and operations which were criticized in early December in a letter written by Foreman Jay Bartle.

Library trustees this morning accepted an invitation for a

Acting Manager At Water District

Edith Ragsdale is acting manager of Scotts Valley County Water District until the meeting, the time and place of which have yet to be determined. Indications are the public will be barred.

Trustee Vernon Berlin stated at a Library Board meeting this morning that he welcomes a chance to meet with the grand jury. He said, "When the foreman sent the letter he should have requested a meeting with the board as a whole to hear the other side of the story."

George Anderson of the grand jury told trustees that the jurors had decided to meet with the Library Board members as individuals but would meet with the board as a whole, if that were preferable. Trustee Sara Bunnett stated a preference for a meeting with the board as a whole, saying, "That is the only way that is fair and honest."

Trustee Leonard Greenberg objected to including in an acceptance of the invitation the comment by Berlin that the grand jury "should hear the other side of the story."

"We should discuss all the questions in an objective manner," Greenberg said.
