

County's First College Becomes Reality

Malby Roberts (right), director of counseling, aids two students during the registration at Cabrillo college last week. More than 400 students are expected to attend the junior college during day and evening sessions. The two students are: Jack Brooks, 25, 365 Bethany drive, and Sarajane Gans, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don B. Faciolla, 4300 Opal Cliffs drive.

Cabrillo could be called a "do-it-yourself" college in many ways. Here three students are shown painting the interior of the new student center. They are, left to right: Bob Haley, 18, son of Rev. and Mrs. William Haley, 5321 Soquel drive, Soquel; Joan Pope, 17, Watsonville, and Leta Kinard, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kinard, Aptos. The students have fixed up the interior of their own center under the direction of Director of Activities Jack Snyder.

Floyd Younger, director of instruction at newly-formed Cabrillo college, receives a preview from Dr. Joseph Raymond (standing), modern language department, on how students will learn to speak other tongues via recorded tapes and other electronic wonders. The college will have the latest audio equipment to aid in the teaching of foreign languages.
