

Twin Lakes' Indian Tree

Twin Lakes' "Indian Tree" a few years ago, when it had all its feathers . . . today it is down to a stubby stump that hardly bears any resemblance to the original "Indian." A Sentinel subscriber kindly furnished this photograph after reading the recent Indian Tree story. The tree stands on the curve of East Cliff Drive, between the Small Crafts Harbor and Seventh Avenue.