YWCA

At work in some 80 countries of the world on every continent, YWCAs are making their presence felt by their efforts to be open communities of different kinds of people working for a common purpose. The patterns of work, though varied, all have basic elements in common: the determination to help women and girls fulfill their potential as self-reliant, confident human beings; the recognition that all YWCAs, while working within differing social systems, can and do change in response to changing society.

"Come As You Are" is the YWCA's way of saying that ALL women and girls coming together in diversity AND similarity is what gives the Y its strength. The YWCA welcomes all economic, racial, occupational, religious, and cultural backgrounds; young and old; the sharing of individual needs and concerns; the sharing of life-styles.

Program and services offered at the Santa Cruz YWCA include classes in crafts and homemaking skills, exercise and physical fitness; interest groups studying institutional racism, how to raise a family on as little as possible, and the concerns of new mothers; social action groups interested in welfare, tenants' rights, ending the war and building peace; multi-cultural programs for children and adults. Come as YOU are to the Santa Cruz Y.W.C.A.!
