Mike McCollum

Open for business

Watsonville's new post office on the 200 block of Main Street, originally scheduled to open last March and subjected to a number of delays since, opened its doors to the public for the first time this morning. Above, window clerk Ron Benich helps Watsonville resident Mary Okamoto mail a package.