

Description + Travel

Sunday, January 6, 1974

A Timeless Friend

The waves, now transparent with iridescent green — now heavy and mysterious as jade, pound their exquisitely incessant syncopation, setting a rhythm for the girl...

who, with her dog, flits along the shallows in carefree youth. In age she may return, and, carrying a walking stick for balance, will slowly stroll along the sand — savoring the strength and beauty of her timeless friend, the sea.

—B. B.

Photo by Peter Amos

Trop'n'Sea
The Living