Cowell Site Okayed For New S

th of Himby the By Jack Rannells An 11-acre site on estate north estate property north of High street was approved by the city planning commission last night as a "reasonable alternate" for loca-tion of the proposed Westside eleproperty

tion of the proposed Westside ele-mentary school.

Planning Director Robert Cook
is drafting a resolution recomapproval for presenta approval for presenta a adjourned session of mending tion at an adjourned session of the city council tonight, begin-ning at 6 o'clock.

The council Tuesday night gave the ning at 6 o'clock.

The council Tuesday night gave conditional approval to linking of school with the conditional app.
the proposed school
Moore street sewer line
Conditions include

roval wer line.

wer line.

ude a provier system

the the Conditions include a provision that if the sewer system cannot adequately handle the increased load, the school district—at its own expense—will establish a sump holding tank to discharge sewage at low-use to discharge sewage at low-use hours.

Also, the school would be required to join any future sewer assessment district in the High-Bay street area.

The Cowell site was described by Cook as "a reasonable alternate, but still second best" to the specified reservoir site. by Cook as "a reason nate, but still second b so-called reservoir site.
"Its desirability him

what on the future of the university here," Cook said.
City and chamber of commerce officials are attempting to garner for Santa Cruz a proposed central coast branch of the University of California. It is proposed for a portion of the Cowell property.
Cook said a school at the edge of its service area rather than in the center would result if the The planning the content of the Cowell site is selected.

the center would res Cowell site is selected. The planning comm given top preference t below the Bay street commission parcel below the Bay street reserved.

However, Thomas Turner, superintendent of city schools, has found owners that and other proposed sites reluctant to sell.

Lamburg Happy to a Bay street reservoir. super-

He claims assurance least one member of the Henry Cowell foundation board that it would look favorably on sale of a total of 16 acres to the school district at market value. Only 11 acres would be used initially.

Cook said freedom of the Cowell site from excessive High street traffic noises would be strictly a function of development. "Landscaping and location eliminate most buildings can eliminate of buildings can eliminate most problems," he said.

Councilman Paul Forgey quickly presented the motion placing financial responsibility for the sewer holding tank on the school district. The city previously had accepted the cost burden if such development is necessary at the

"The same people would be taxed," Forgey said. "Let's put the expense where it belongs."