

Convalescent Hospital To Go Up In SC

Construction on a new Santa Cruz convalescent hospital will get under way in 10 days, Virgil F. Smith, president of Cabrillo Convalescent Hospital and Nursing Home, Inc., announced today.

The $375,000 structure, pictured above in an artist's sketch above, will be located on 1.5 acres between Felker and Pryce streets, adjacent to the San Lorenzo river one block west of Colonial inn. There will be a 120 by 150-foot parking lot.

The one-story, 24,000-square foot building will have 33 two-bed wards, each with its own tile bath. It will have a complete therapy room with a hydro-therapy bath, a sauna bath, a recreation room and a hospital-size kitchen.

The lobby will feature a four-foot wainscoting of Italian marble.

Smith is the designer of the complex, the eighth convalescent hospital he has designed. Land and equipment bring the total cost to nearly $500,000.

Developer is San Lorenzo Land company. The board of directors of the hospital include Smith, Don Stefani, owner of Colonial inn, and Santa Cruz physicians

Dr. John D. Fuller, Dr. Luther Newhall and Dr. Allen J. Pederson.

Smith plans to staff the hospital with local persons. The day shift will include 32 persons and a relief shift of 12 is planned.

Contractor is George G. Wilson. Completion and occupancy is slated August 1.
