Reserve Center Is Being Constructed

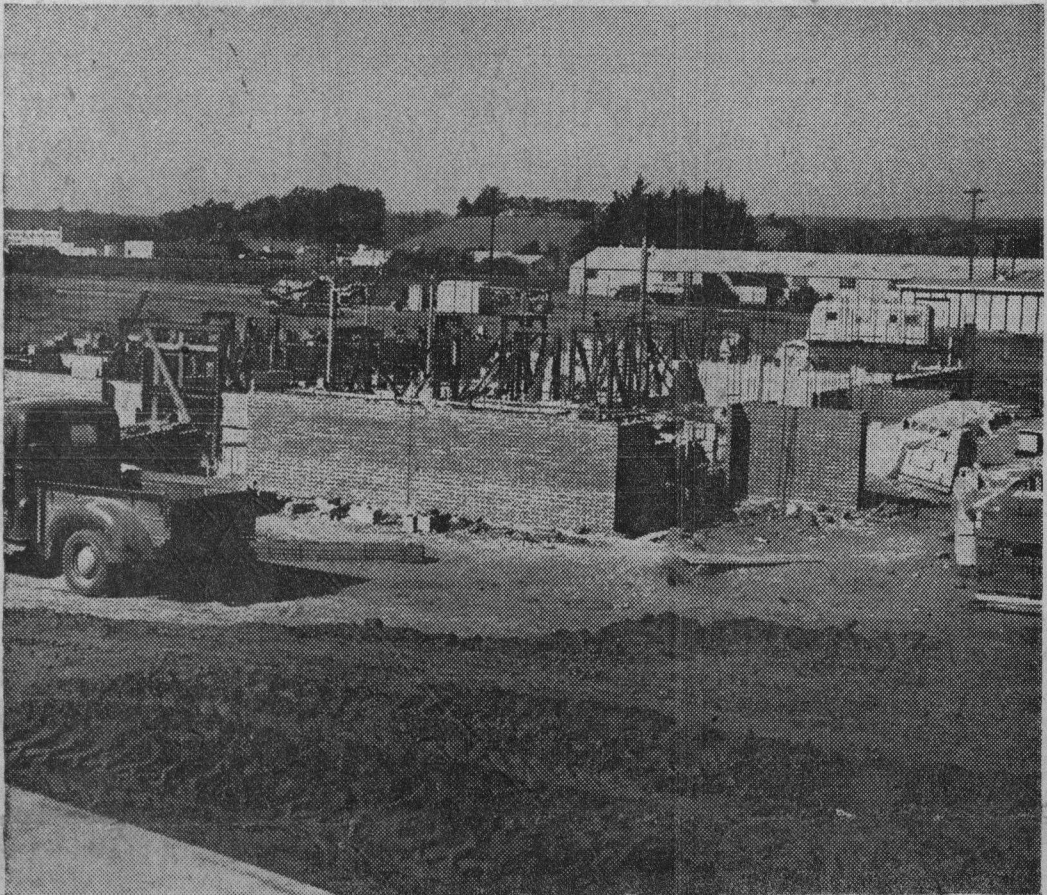

Shown above, in the construction stage, is the maintenance area for the U.S. Army Reserve center at 313 Swift street. On the left is the maintenance building constructed of brick and reinforced concrete block. On the right is the lubrication rack, made completely of concrete. Located between them is a washing area for the vehicles of the 422nd Military Police company, which will use the center upon completion.

Main Building Of Reserve Center

Signs of work progress can be seen at the new U.S. Army Reserve Center at 313 Swift street. The 100 man center will house the 422nd Military Police company (Sep), the local Army Reserve unit, which is now meeting in the FOE hall at 1362 Pacific avenue. The main building will be constructed of brick on the outside and reinforced concrete blocks for the inside walls. Completion date is set for mid-January. W. Jasper is the general contractor.
