

WHEN AL. G. BARNES' BIG ANIMAL CIRCUS ARRIVES

Imagine over 1000 animals in one assemblage. Imagine looking into the cold, cruel basilisk eyes of hundreds of the jungle's richest treasures. Imagine yourself face to face with these hundreds of lions, tigers, leopards and others of the man-eating beasts. Imagine great herds of elephants, caravans of camels, droves of llamas, sacred oxen and half a hundred monkeys. Imagine you hear the mocking laugh of the vicious hyena as you turn away from the "cat" animals with a shiver. Then think of the rare opportunity you have to experience some of the thrills that have led great men to risk their lives to bring from all corners of the earth every specie of animals known to exist, that you, and me and all the rest may know more of nature's great glories.

Then set your alarm clock so as to get up early Monday, March 26th, and hurry yourself along to see the Al G. Barnes wild animal circus unload its two trains of these wonderful animals, make facts of your fancies and see this great jungle town.

The winter quarters of this wonderful "Canvas City" and "Jungle Town," is Venice, Cal. So popular has this circus become as a field for study of natural history that school heads are writing the management to include their town in the show's route.

Hundreds of the finest and best educated horses, dogs, goats and other domestic animals add to the attractions of the 65 feature act program of the Al G. Barnes circus and there are many human as well as animal clowns, 150 animal educators and 506 attendants. Much good music and a big two-mile long parade at 10:30 A. M. Doors open at 1 and 7 P. M.
