

Columns Go Up For UC Science Building

Progress at the University of California campus became more evident yesterday when two 43-foot columns were placed at the location of the main entrance to the Natural Sciences building unit one yesterday. The building is due for completion in July, 1965. Architect for the building is Anshen and Allen from San Francisco and Nomellini construction company of Stockton is the contractor.

◇ ◇ ◇

◇ ◇ ◇