

Libraries 1960-1969

Capitola Has One For The Books

Capitola Mayor Andrew Antonetti feels the weight of some of the many new volumes at the expanded Capitola library, scene of a formal dedication tomorrow from 2 to 4 p.m. At right is Mrs. Geraldine Work, county librarian, and left is Mrs. Barbara Brown, Capitola librarian. Mayor Antonetti, the Capitola city council, and other city and county officials will be honored along with Harlan Kessler, owner of the library building which is leased to the city. Members of the Capitola Chamber of Commerce and auxiliary and Capitola Parent-Teachers association will serve refreshments during the public open house. Mrs. Work said circulation of books has doubled since the expansion and extended library hours. The library is now open from 1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 1 to 6 p.m. on Friday. The library is located across from the Capitola City hall on Capitola avenue.

County Issues Permits Of $3

Fifty-four building permits were issued by the county building section during the week of October 21 through 25. Total valuation is $398,065.

Only one permit was valued at more than $20,000. It was issued