Teen Center Opens Today

The old coffee house at 214 Cathcart street will come alive again tonight with the opening of the new Santa Cruz teen center.

It will open at 4 p.m. and all Santa Cruz High school, junior high school or Cabrillo college students are eligible to join.

Membership cards are 50 cents and are valid for six months. According to Ron Ragon, president of the Teen club council, tonight will be sort of a "get acquainted and look around" affair.

A permanent name is being sought for the club and $5 is being offered for the one chosen.

Open hours are 4 to 9:30 p.m. on weekdays and noon to 11 p.m. Saturdays. Wednesdays will be set aside for junior high school students.

There will be adult advisors at the center during all open hours, said Ragon.

Projects being planned include a "bull session," starting March 7, led by guest psychologists. Also the Teen center will participate in the upcoming Heart fund drive February 28.
