Janie Dalton, 17, a student at Aptos High School, is the grand prize winner in a poster contest sponsored by the Baskin-Robbins ice cream store chain. Janie, who lives with her parents at 910 Mesa Grande Road in Aptos, learned of the contest three days before the deadline and worked up to the last minute to finish her poster. Her winning entry which depicts a fantasy land of ice cream, beat out 25,000 other entrants from the United States and Canada. Her prize is a new car, a trip for four around the country, camera equipment and, of course, ice cream, 31 gallons of it. Her reaction to winning? "I was so excited when I found out that I ran for four miles to get rid of the energy."
