

Kemper On Way To Face Charge

Lawmen are still on their way back to Santa Cruz County with suspected slayer Edmund Emil Kemper with them, but the group is not expected back here until late today, a sheriff's spokesman said.

The 6-foot-9, 280 pound Kemper is being returned by automobile from Pueblo, Colo., following a court hearing in which the suspect agreed to be extradited back to California.

Accompanying Kemper in the car are detectives from the Santa Cruz sheriff's department and the city police, as well as an investigator from the district attorney's office.

Local authorities are still making no comment on Kemper's connection with recent coed slayings, nor have they made statements about the severed human head pulled out of the ground in Kemper's backyard in Aptos Thursday.

A sheriff's spokesman said lab work on the head will not be complete until Monday, at which time positive identification will be made.

Parts of Cynthia Schall's butchered body washed into various Monterey Bay beaches in January. Because of the time element and due to reports out of Pueblo, it is believed the head belongs to Miss Schall.

The severed bodies of other area young women also were found in early 1973. They include Fresno State coed Mary Ann Pesce, whose severed head was found in the Santa Cruz mountains last summer, UCSC coeds Rosalind Thorpe and Alice Liu, and Cabrillo College coed Mary Guilfoyle.

Miss Pesce's traveling companion, Anita Luchessa, disappeared in the Santa Cruz area in late spring of last year. She has never been located.

Reports from Pueblo say Kemper has admitted slaying six young women.

Thursday, Sheriff Doug James requested first degree murder complaints be filed by the DA's office against Kemper in connection with the slaying of his mother, Clarnell Strandberg, 52, and her friend, Sara Taylor Hallett, 59.

The sheriff also said Kemper will be arraigned in Municipal Court Monday. It is not known where the suspected slayer will be held, but it is thought he will be booked at the county jail.

UC requested $823,000 for additional classrooms and $1,366,000 for College VIII. The library expansion project proposal was postponed until a later date.

New Din To Water

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sudden, unexplained resignation of former Nixon campaign deputy Jeb S. Magruder from the Commerce Department adds a new dimension to the Watergate scandal.

It was the first resignation of any high administration official involved in the widening wire-tap affair.

Magruder reportedly had been both an accuser and an accused in the case. He left his $36,000-a-year job as Commerce Department director of policy development without formal notice. His lawyer, James J. Bierbower, was asked late Thursday night for an explanation, and said flatly, "There will be none."

The tall, curly-haired Magruder, 38, set up the early Nixon campaign efforts and stayed on as No. 2 man when Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell formally quit his law-enforcement duties to run the campaign.

Recent news reports have quoted Magruder as telling federal prosecutors that Mitchell and Dean, the White House counsel, approved and helped plan last summer's wiretapping
