

Readying for razing

JUL 7 1993 SJM

KAREN T. BORCHERS — MERCURY NEWS

A construction worker, above, looks Tuesday at what was home to Pacific Pack & Pants in the Elks building in Santa Cruz before the 1989 Loma Prieta earthquake. A cyclist, below, passes the fronts of that structure and the Ferrari building, from which crews were removing parts by hand to protect the sidewalks and neighboring property. Next week, the rest of the unreinforced masonry is set to be demolished.

