

Santa Cruz Prepares For UC Campus

Site of the University of California Campus

Citizens Rejoice Over Selection

"Are you pleased that Santa Cruz was selected as the site of the new University of California campus?"

"Yes" was the unanimous answer of local citizens picked at random by a Sentinel reporter on Pacific avenue yesterday when he made a "man on the street" interview.

L. H. Hustedt, a surveyor from Boulder Creek, said, "I think the university is a good thing. It will help increase the prosperity of the county."

Frank Nigro, telephone lineman, 408 Emeline street, commented, "I was hoping we'd get the university and I'm glad it's here. I think everyone feels the same way."

Santa Cruz residents in general seemed joyous over Friday's announcement made by the UC regents, and they also believed their fellow Santa Cruzans felt the same way, or as Mrs. Mel Freeman, nurse's aid, 115 Palm street put it:

"I'm delighted; I feel that's the same reaction of everybody in Santa Cruz."

Howard Johnson, salesman, 205 South Branciforte avenue, said, "The university is bound to make Santa Cruz grow . . . I hope my son can go there someday."

"I'm very pleased. The university will be good for Santa Cruz," said T. A. Morgan, retired, Smith Grade road.

Ted Bushnell, cement plant foreman, 1013 Broadway, stated, "The university will certainly be beneficial to Santa Cruz. I'm glad to see it come here."

Mrs. Louis Maranta, housewife, 319 River street, said, "I'm happy to see the university come here. It will mean a lot to Santa Cruz."

Dr. J. M. Sharp, M.D., 410 High street, said, "I think the university will be good for the community but it will be some time before we see the benefits. . . . A college town is always a nice town in which to live."

"I'm for it, definitely!" exclaimed Edward Kallman, an organ technician, Boulder Creek. "I believe everybody in Santa Cruz was for the university coming here."

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Futterer, senior students at Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo, who visit here five or six times a year, agreed that Santa Cruz "has the right atmosphere for a college."

What appeared to be the feelings of Santa Cruzans could be summed up by the exclamation of Mrs. Muriel Dyer, saleslady, 326 Locust street:

Regents Prefer Cowell Ranch Over Santa Clara

The University of California, the nation's largest, will build a new general campus on the Cowell Ranch site in Santa Cruz.

Designed to relieve the crowded conditions at the university's campus at Berkeley, the Santa Cruz-Cowell campus will be planned to handle an eventual enrollment of 27,500 students.

Tentative university plans call for the opening of the campus with an estimated 500 students either in the fall of 1965 or 1966, depending on the availability of funds and development conditions.

Announcement of the selection of the Cowell site was made Friday afternoon with a vote on a resolution approving the action by a 16 to 2 margin.

Approval on the site selection is conditional upon satisfactory completion of negotiations with the city of Santa Cruz and the county of Santa Cruz and for the university to obtain written agreements with the city and county regarding commitments for utilities, roads peripheral controls, etc.

Both City Manager Pete Tedesco and Lewis Nelson, chairman of the county board of supervisors, said they believe these agreements will be based on the previous commitments from the city and county and can be accomplished without undue delay.

Assemblyman Glenn Coolidge of Santa Cruz, who has been a foremost proponent of the UC site in Santa Cruz since its inception in 1957, said he would act immediately in Sacramento to seek approval of the use of the UC site funds in the current state budget.

Coolidge said that $3 million was approved in an augmentation to the budget last year and he will urge State Finance Director John Carr to authorize use of money in that fund for the acquisition of the site.

The regents approved purchase of 1918 acres of the Cowell ranch at a cost of $2,011,825. The Cowell Foundation has announced it will return a substantial portion of the $1,500,000 cost of the 1273-acre parcel to the university in the form of a building to be determined by the university and the Foundation.

There were three parcels in the presentation by the Cowell Foundation. Parcel A, which had been appraised at $1,758,700, was set at $1,500,000; Parcel B (208 acres) set at $124,800 and Parcel C (437 acres) set at $387,025. Regents voted to purchase all three parcels.

Sixteen of the 18 regents present voted in favor of the Cowell ranch site. The two opposing votes were cast by Governor Edmund G. (Pat) Brown and Lt. Gov. Glenn Anderson. Brown said that he favored the sent the word to Santa Cruz shortly after 3 o'clock.

Coolidge said yesterday that he was extremely gratified at the decision of the regents and firmly believes that the Cowell campus will become one of the truly great campuses of the university.

The assemblyman praised the work of city and county officials in preparing supplements for the university staff and for making the necessary local commitments to provide the university with an outstanding site.

Coolidge also stressed the extreme cooperation from the trustees of the Cowell Foundation and their interest in Santa Cruz. The local campus effort was a great, cooperative project with the work of hundreds of individuals.

State Senator Donald L. Grunsky was also lavish in his praise for the outstanding local cooperation in the project.

Both local legislators also stressed the interest the regents had displayed in the scholarship pledges from so many groups and individuals in the county.

Gordon Sinclair, chairman of the UC site committee for the Greater Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce, also expressed his gratification at the decision of the regents.

"We sincerely hope that the Cowell campus will become an outstanding part of the University of California. It is a project which will require both immediate and long range planning and one which should greatly influence Santa Cruz and Santa Cruz county in the years ahead."

Sinclair said that Santa Cruz had a number of favorable factors in the contest to obtain the UC site—a magnificent site made available by the fine cooperation of the Cowell trustees, a growing and capable community plus the great efforts of many, many people—City and county officials, our legislators, former Santa Cruzans, and hundreds of people in the area who have been plugging the project for more than three years.

Edmund G. (at) Brown and Lt. Gov. Glenn Anderson.

Brown said that he favored the Santa Clara county sites because of the concentration of population, student job opportunities and industrial development there. He noted the offer of $4 million for site acquisition by the city and county, and the growth factors of the Santa Clara valley.

The governor, however, added that he had not had the time to devote as much attention to the site selection as "full-time" regents. (He serves as an ex-officio regent).

Regent Philip L. Boyd of Riverside, chairman of the site selection committee, told the governor:

"If you had been at all of our hearings and were in possession of all our data I think you might go along with us and I think you will some day."

Boyd noted that on the Berkeley campus only about 10 per cent of the students live at home, implying that a large population area surrounding a campus should not be a vital factor in choosing a site.

Boyd said, according to the Associated Press, another important consideration was the "serious difficulty" of controlling the land surrounding the San Jose sites.

Regent Norton Simon of Los Angeles said he originally had been in favor of San Jose, but changed his mind after hearing Boyd's presentation. "Particularly when you look into the future and consider the advances that are going to be made in transportation, you find that Santa Cruz will be brought closer to larger areas.

Boyd said that in fairness to the owners of the four sites which were considered, "We couldn't wait any longer." He added that delays had worked serious hardships on owners of property in both areas because of the "freeze which had been put on development of the land" pending the site decision.

Regent Donald McLaughlin of San Francisco expressed enthusiasm for the Cowell site which he said was majestic in its great beauty.

Chairman Edwin Pauley of the regents prefaced his vote in favor of the Cowell site with the statement that he favored a site closer to the population center, but that he capitulated in face of the arguments of other regents.

Assemblyman Glenn Coolidge, who attended the regents' meeting in Berkeley Friday afternoon,

Neither Rain, Nor Sleet Nor Snow—SPLASH!

Redwood City (P). — Neither rain, nor sleet nor snow shall slow the postman on his appointed rounds, but mailman Charles Suzakawa found Saturday that a swimming pool can.

Suzakawa, who can't swim, was delivering a package to an apartment at 1410 Hudson Street. His eyes trained on numbers on the second floor, he inched backwards across the courtyard.

Then, SPLASH! He was struggling in the deep end of the swimming pool. William Kander, 60, a tenant, rescued the 54-year-old postman and Policeman Donald Wilkes arrived to give first aid. Suzakawa was taken to Sequoia Hospital for a checkup and released.

Gable's Widow Enters Hospital

Hollywood (P). — Clark Gable's widow Saturday entered a hospital to give birth Monday by caesarean section to the late actor's child.

Mrs. Kay Spreckels Gable has been living in seclusion on a nearby ranch since the funeral for Gable, 59, who died Nov. 16 of a heart attack — in the same hospital where the baby will be born.

Mrs. Gable is 41. She lost a baby the couple expected in 1955.

She has two children to her previous marriage to sugar heir Adolph Spreckels II, Adolph III, now 11, and Joan, 9.

Driver Injured In Auto Mishap

A Los Angeles man — currently working in Santa Cruz — was injured last night when his car veered out of control near Zanze's restaurant on the Los Gatos highway and overturned.

Martin Thorup, 43, was taken to county hospital for treatment of possible head injuries and the loss of several teeth. He was driving a pick-up truck. No other car was involved in the accident.
