

A look into the Valley's past

Boulder Creek

The end of the line in BC

The Southern Pacific Roundhouse at the end of the line in Boulder Creek was located where the Pacific Telephone office now stands. The railroad, built in the late 1800's was used primarily in the lumber industry in the Valley (note logs at left) and was discontinued in 1934. Photo courtesy of Anne Locatelli.