

County Takes Action Against Christ Circle

3-27-78

The quasi-religious Christ Circle community is facing court action from the County of Santa Cruz, which is demanding the group tear down two illegally-constructed buildings.

In a Superior Court suit filed Friday, the county is asking the court to order the Boulder Creek community to tear down the buildings and be required to obtain proper permits for any other construction planned at the mountain center.

A court hearing on the suit has been scheduled for April 6 at 1:30 p.m.

The suit contends the two large buildings were built without obtaining proper building and sewer permits.

It also charges that the county ordered the Christ Circle community to stop work on the buildings, but workers there refused.

Superior Court Judge Rollie Hall Friday signed a court order requiring the Boulder Creek group to stop work on the two buildings and stop anyone from occupying the buildings until the April hearing.

The suit names Christ Circle Director Arthur Hemple, and Thomas Roskowick and Joshua Allen as defendants.