Lots Of Bounce At 113 Years

cities in Alameda county combined to put together this replica of the San Jose mission in honor of Father Serra's upcoming 250th anniversary. Above, Stockton Parlor 7 members carry this huge 20x40-foot Bear flag, which won much applause.

The parade concluded a three-day celebration by the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West. More than 2000 attended the barbecue in Harvey West park following the parade.
