

8-8-90

Coming down

SANTA CRUZ — Work crews Tuesday started dismantling a Phoenix Pavilion, an ever-present reminder of the October earthquake. The pavilion, one of seven that dot the downtown landscape, is the first to come down. The pavilion became unnecessary when the businesses it houses moved to other locations.

Dan Coyro/Sentinel