The Cope House will be decorated in the holiday tradition for a charity fundraiser on Dec. 5.

Home show features gifts, glitter

The historic Cope House, built in 1877 by Santa Cruz tycoon Fredric A. Hihn as a wedding gift for his daughter Katie, will be the setting for a lavish holiday celebration to benefit a local charity.

The event, sponsored by Coastal Homes Magazine, is being called the First Annual Holiday Home Show, with proceeds to go to the Holiday Project.

The event will be held Dec. 5 from 1 to 7 p.m. and tickets are $3 a person.

Cope House, at the corner of Walnut and Chestnut Streets, will be decorated in the holiday tradition by decorating studios, gift and home specialty shops including Haber's Home Furnishings, The Granary at the Farm, Ferrari

Florists and Gifts, California Cottage, Keepers Two, Gloria Moore's Accents, Aptos Gardens and others. Music will be provided by the Northwind, a popular local group, and refreshments will be donated by local businesses.

The house has been completely restored by its present owners, Jack and Colette Seiple. It has been featured on the YWCA home tour and will also be on the Santa Cruz Symphony's upcoming home tour. It is also in the book by John Chase, A SIDEWALK COMPANION TO SANTA CRUZ ARCHITECTURE.

Proceeds will go toward the purchase of gifts to be distributed by volunteers to the ill and the elderly.
