Freedom Library to open August 22

Marissa Jacobo helps shelve books Friday inside the new Freedom Branch Library at the corner of Freedom and Airport boulevards. Numerous library staff members were on hand to fill the shelves as workers from various companies completed last-minute detail work for the library, which used to be the Freedom Fire station. A grand opening ceremony is set for Aug. 22. The branch, which features a separate children's reading room, Internet access computers, and a periodical shelf, will eventually house 15,000 books.

Jose Torres works on preparing the landscaping next to the new sign for the Freedom Branch Library Friday.
